20. CITY / COUNTRY INFORMATION

20.1 About PAMPLONA

Declared a National Monument and more than five kilometers long, Pamplona's defensive walls and the Citadel constitute one of Europe's most interesting and best-preserved Renaissance military complexes.

Pamplona preserves its Renaissance city walls and an old town formed by three boroughs, La Navarrería, San Cernin and San Nicolás, which merged in a single city in 1423 when King Charles III enacted the Privilege of the Union. Going down one of the adjacent streets, you arrive at the neighbourhood of La Navarrería, in the center of which stands Santa María la Real Cathedral.

The history and the urban development of the city has led to its being full of green areas and trees, where cultural heritage and nature merge. It has many acres of parks and gardens which make it a green city and interesting specimens of unusual trees dotting its parks and streets. Its 60,000 trees and 740 acres of green areas account for 15% of the surface area of the city

Pamplona has three gastronomic routes that run through the most important places in the city: The Camino route, the Encierro route and the Green route. Pamplona has a wide offer of restaurants whose menus are designed to suit all tastes and budgets and where you can relish miniature delicacies: pintxos.

Winter in Pamplona brings fairytale scenery amid woodlands and magical peaks in the heart of the Pyrenees. Pamplona is the ideal destination for a weekend visit.
